The Accountant's Onboarding Workflow Guide + Template (UK)

Learn a step-by-step workflow for onboarding new accounting clients in less time (without missing a step)

About this guide

You've done the hard work winning the client...

Now you need to make sure that you set them, and yourself, up for success to get the most out of your working relationship.

This all starts with a standardised, documented, step-by-step onboarding process.

In this guide, you'll find an onboarding process that takes you from engagement letters to regular monthly services, that is easy to customise and streamlined to fit your practice. We've even included a tech-map to help you automate your onboarding process further!

Here's what's included:

- [Flowchart] The Onboarding Process
- [Tech Map] The Automated Onboarding Process
- [Pixie Template] The Accountant's Onboarding Workflow Process
- [Case Study] How we streamlined our onboarding and scaled up with Pixie
- [About] How Pixie can help you to take control of your onboarding workflow

About Pixie

Hi there! I'm Celso, Founder & CEO here at Pixie.

Thanks for downloading a copy of this onboarding workflow guide + template. I hope you find it helpful!

If we haven't met, Pixie is a practice management and workflow app built for small accounting & bookkeeping firms. In just a few clicks, it helps you to reduce overwhelm, get organised and take control of your clients, workflow, and team in one simple and easy-to-use app.

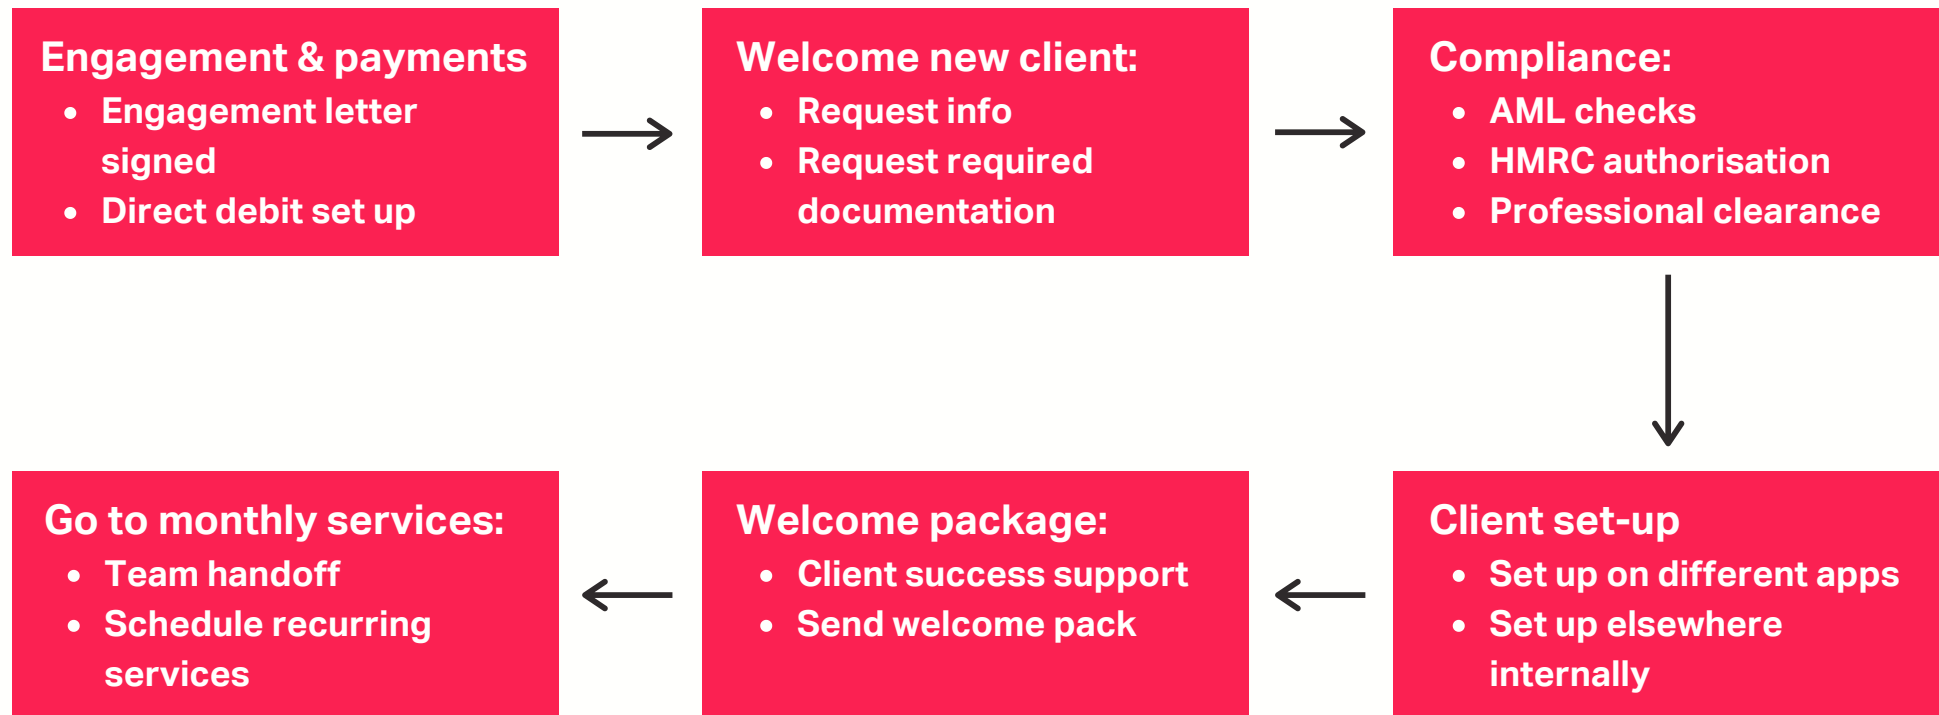

If you find yourself struggling to keep track of your deadlines, spending too much time chasing clients for missing information, and needing better workflows and processes to help you scale your firm, then Pixie can help.

This onboarding workflow template will give you a simple, flexible, and repeatable process for you and your team to follow so that nothing falls through the cracks. You can use some of the automation in Pixie (and our integrations with other apps) to take it further and save even more time!

If you have any questions, feel free to reach out to us at hello@usepixie.com.

[Flowchart overview] The Onboarding Process

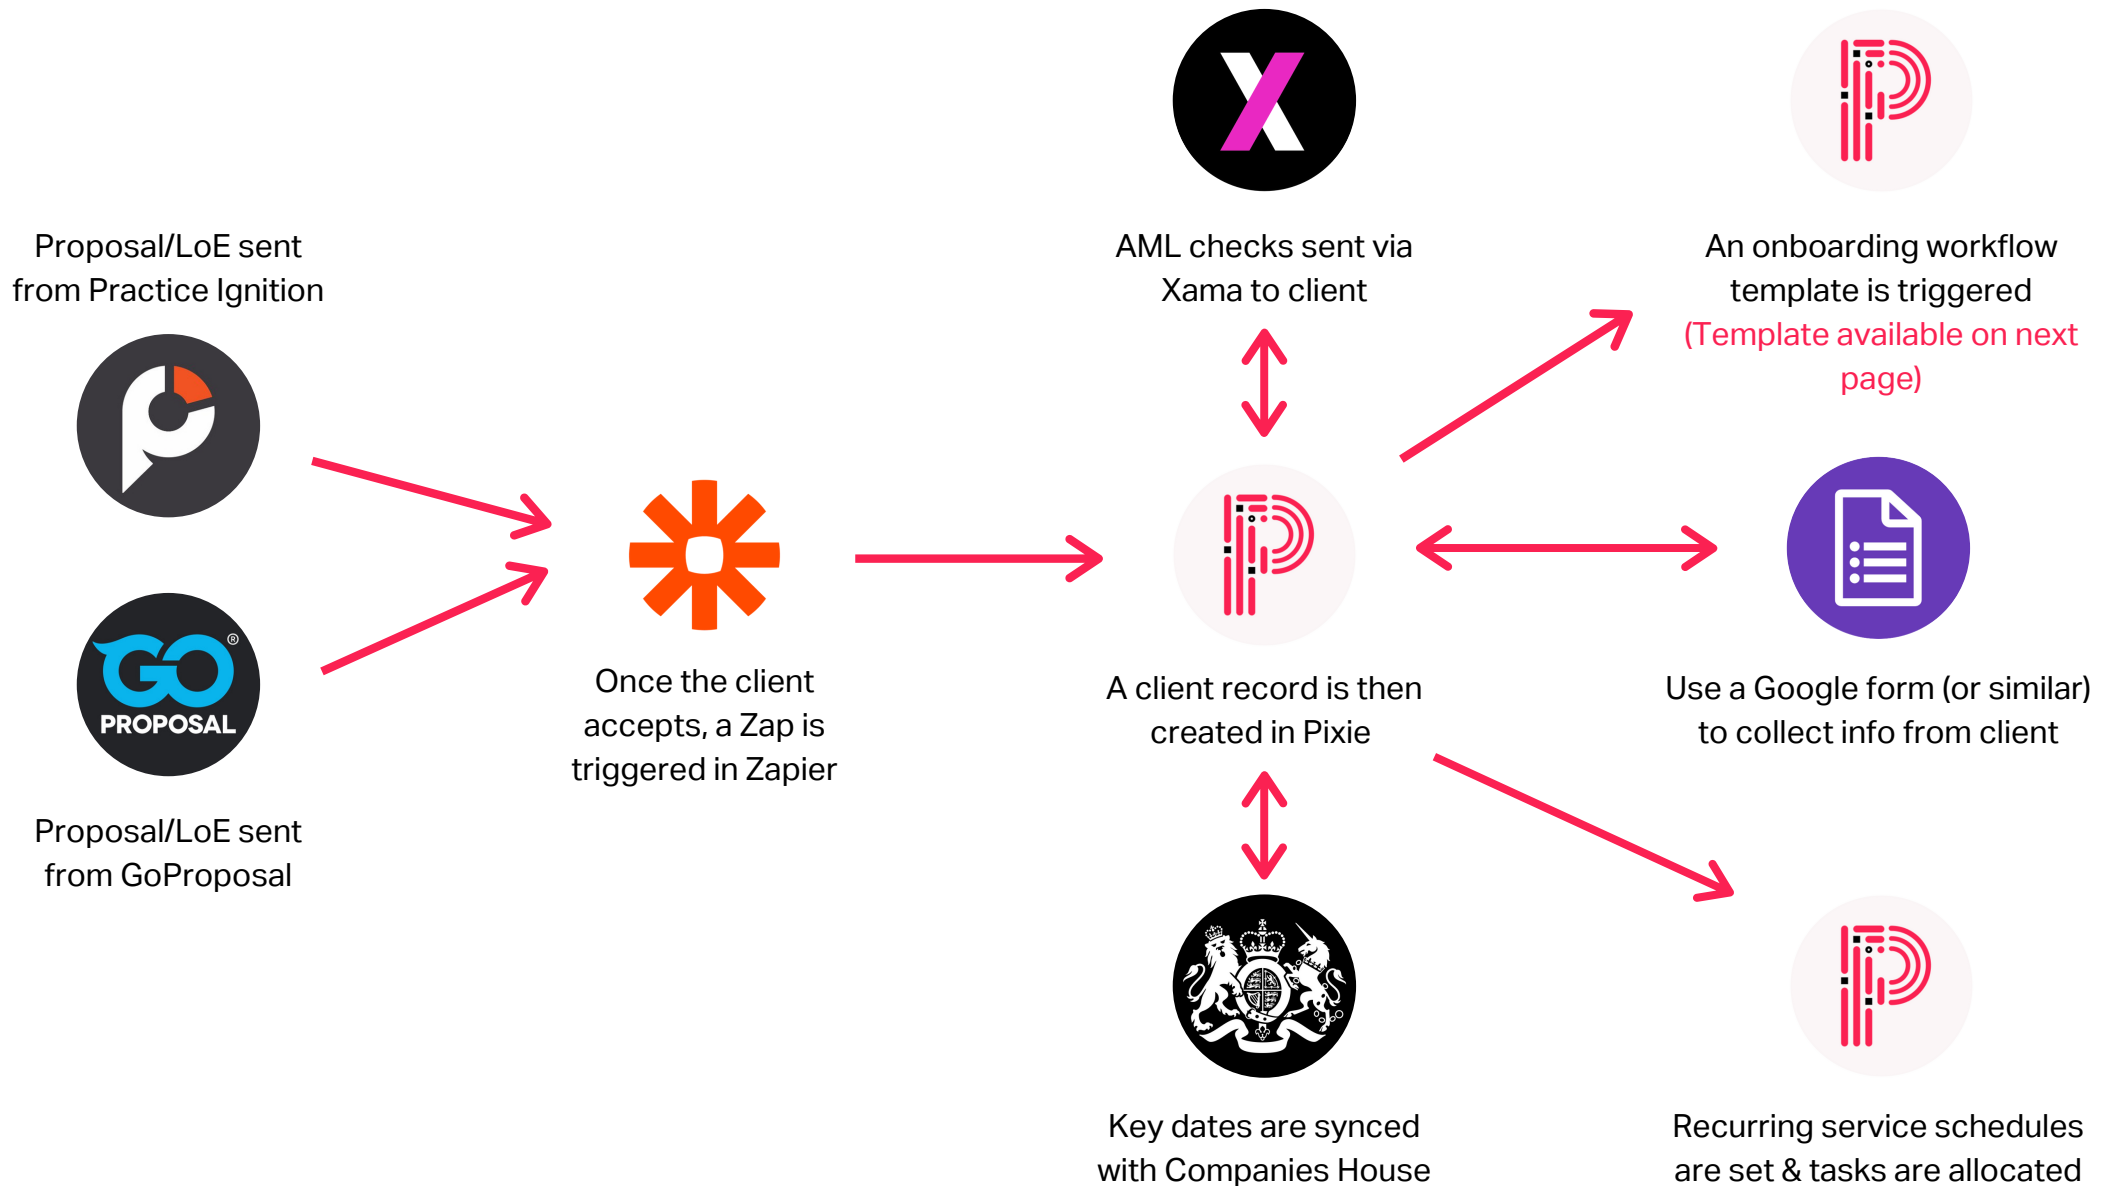

Looking at the workflow from the top-down view helps us see all the core phases of the onboarding process. For each of the phases, you can look to streamline and optimise them. For example, you might choose to use an app like GoProposal or Practice Ignition to send your engagement letters vs sending them manually. Or you might choose to use something like Pixie for requesting information and sending reminders to clients. Let's take a look at this from a tech-map perspective...

[Tech Map] The Automated Onboarding Process

The following tech map gives you an idea of how to build an end-to-end automated onboarding process using Pixie and other apps.

The Accountant's Onboarding Workflow Template has been built in Pixie.

Why? Because that's the best way to see exactly how a live workflow can be used, including using automated email templates and being able to assign tasks for your clients to complete.

Having a workflow template that you can use again and again, as well as easily customised for specific project needs AND stay on track with all the moving parts, is a godsend!

Here's everything that's included:

- Email templates ready to send to your clients requesting information
- A checklist of items to assign to your client for them to securely upload
- Email templates for professional clearance and requesting HMRC authorisation codes from your client
- A step by step workflow process for you and your team to follow so that nothing gets missed

You can easily customise the template, checklists, and email language to fit your own practice and your clients' needs. It's intuitive so that you can make adjustments quickly.

[Case Study] How we streamlined our onboarding and scaled-up with Pixie

For Munro & Partners, a team of 5 based in Farnham, Surrey, they spent a lot of time and mental energy onboarding new clients into their firm. From sending proposals and engagement letters manually, to the partners being responsible for completing all onboarding tasks (and inevitably missing things on occasion), getting new clients set up was challenging.

"We used to get down the line and realise we were missing information when we were due to start jobs. With things being missed, it can feel like you're letting new clients down before you've had a chance to get started."

All of this changed when they started using Pixie to manage the onboarding of their new clients.

"We were looking for a way to build more automation into our systems and processes to scale up the business without becoming too heavy on staffing. Pixie has helped us to automate several things, including the onboarding of new clients."

By integrating Pixie with Practice Ignition (via Zapier), they can now send proposals at the click of a button and automatically trigger the creation of clients and jobs in Pixie.

"Once the proposal is accepted in Practice Ignition, the onboarding jobs are created automatically in Pixie, and the team can immediately get on with it. They know exactly what to do. Things like authorisations and requesting codes from HMRC, we're getting all of this done well ahead of time."

Previously, this onboarding process might take anywhere from a few days to a few weeks. Now, Munro & Partners can get things done within a day or two, allowing them to scale up their firm whilst being confident that their new clients will be onboarded correctly and on time.
